Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh are major sugarcane producers but weak monsoon for the past few years has hit production badly. EID Parry Ltd on Monday said it will close its sugar factory in Tamil Nadu's Pudukottai district, saying it didn't see a future for the business because of poor sugarcane supply. The company, which is part of the Murugappa Group, had earlier announced the closure of its sugar unit in Puducherry, and mothballed another two in Tamil Nadu. "The Company proposes to transfer assets of the (Pudukottai) unit to its other units and also dispose other assets as may be deemed appropriate. The committee has been tasked to study elephant population and their movement in Tamil Nadu from January 1, 2006 to June 30, 2020. As per Mr. Yuvarajâ€™s order dated July 4, it should look into various aspects of elephant habitat restoration and amelioration measures. The committee should come out with suitable comprehensive proposal with an estimation of cost for the restoration of the habitat related measures. The committee has been requested to look into the human-wildlife conflict and the adequacy of the measures taken by the Forest Department. It should suggest suitable measures to minimize cultivated in Tamil Nadu are of grain, rice, lentils and vegetables. Tamil Nadu does not use fried foods, but rather uses the techniques of roasting and baking. Thus, it helps in many major functions of the body like regulating our cholesterol and sugar levels. Traditionally, it has been considered great medicine for coughs, colds, stomach disorders, open wounds and as a beauty."
