Guilt by Association may refer to: Association fallacy, sometimes called guilt by association. Felony murder rule. Guilty by Association (album), the debut album by State of Shock. Guilt by Association, an album by Creaming Jesus. Guilt by Association Vol. 1, album by Engine Room Recordings. Guilt by Association Vol. 2, album by Engine Room Recordings. Guilt by Association Vol. 3, album by Engine Room Recordings. Guilty by Association (film), 2003 American film starring Morgan Freeman. Guilt by association is the attempt to discredit an idea based upon disfavored people or groups associated with it. This is the reverse of an appeal to misleading Authority, which argues in favor of an idea based upon associating a favored person or group with the idea, whereas guilt by association argues against an idea based upon associating it with a disfavored person or group. Exposure Since the fall of Soviet communism, the McCarthyist version of guilt by association has become less common. The current most common version of guilt by association attempts to link the target with Nazism or, more specifically, Adolf Hitler. This is reflected in the Examples and Counter-Examples given above.
